

First of all, thank you so much for taking the time to read about us and considering us as prospective parents for your child. It would mean the world to us to finally become parents and we would love it if you were a part of this journey. We have a ton of love and energy to give to a newborn and are fully prepared to shift the focus in our lives to raising a happy and successful child.

We met through mutual friends at a church we both attended in Boston, Massachusetts, became friends, then started dating, fell in love and got married at the same church. We moved to Los Angeles together over ten years ago and currently both have very stable, rewarding careers in the area. Kay is a full time Graphic Designer with a major tech company and Ramsey is an Engineer working in R&D at a large laboratory. We are both bilingual and come from multicultural backgrounds.

Together we enjoy hiking a lot. In California, there are a lot of opportunities to hike, climb and visit nearby beaches. Recently, we've been to Yosemite National Park, The Grand Canyon and Sedona, Arizona and Death Valley National Park together. Getting away from the computer screens and phones and being in nature for long periods of time is very healing and fun for us. As a Zumba instructor on the side, Kay is very active and fit, doing the fun dance workout at least 5 times a week. We make it a point to spend quality time together in the mornings as well as evenings, waking up early to walk together for an hour before work starts and generally doing something fun together in the evenings as well. Kay's job can be done completely work-from-home and Ramsey can do roughly half of his work remotely, so combined they have a very flexible schedule to be able to care for and love a newborn child. Kay cooks almost every meal and it is wonderful home cooked food. We can't wait to share meals with a child daily and help develop happy, healthy habits.

We have a strong relationship rooted in our deep respect for each other, shared values and unwavering trust and love. We've faced a lot of adversity together and it has made us incredibly strong as a couple. Of course, no one wants to go through rough times but it's very clear to us now how much it helped us strengthen our relationship, learn to work together even better, make our communication even better as a couple - in the end those times have made us much happier overall.

We both love kids so much. Our closest couple friends have a boy and girl we have watched grow up over the last ten years or so. We used to live next door to them and go over often and play with the kids, bring them presents and teach them fun stuff.

Our friends would say we are very hard-working and dedicated people, very creative, active and resourceful. We have a close-knit group of friends in the Los Angeles area that would pitch in when we need help and family in Georgia, New York, and abroad.

We know that you are faced with a very difficult decision and can empathize with how challenging it must be. We would love to help you know that you are making the best decision for the child. We will do all that we can to ensure that the child becomes a healthy, happy, well-adjusted and successful individual. We are open to you being a part of the child's life if that is what you would like as well. Please contact our attorney Karen Lane at 310-663-3467 and she can explain more. She can help you reach out to us directly as well. Thank you again for the consideration and taking the time to learn some about us.
