

Penny and Eric

Hi. We are Penny and Eric. We are very excited to become parents. We put together this booklet to give you a glimpse at our lives. We have been happily married for over 12 years, sharing in a caring and supportive relationship. We look forward to bringing a baby into our loving home.

We met on a camping trip with friends. You could call it “love at first sight.” We’ve been together ever since. We were married in the spring of 2004.

Our Wedding Day

Penny is the youngest child of two daughters. Her mom is a retired special education teacher and her dad is a retired physics teacher. Living very close to grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins means a lot of time spent with family. Penny's whole family gets together every year for a Christmas celebration. They also get together for a large family picnic on the Fourth of July. Penny grew up with a kind and loving support system that is always there for her.

Penny is smart, warm and caring. Her career as an Occupational Therapist at a nursing home and a hospital has given her years of experience helping children, adults and the elderly. Now, Penny is looking forward to being a stay at home mom.

Penny's Family

Family Christmas Party

Eric is the oldest child of two, having one sister. Eric's mother is a retired business professional and his father is a retired engineer. Like Penny, much of his childhood memories are of time spent with immediate and extended family who always lived close by.

Eric is very intelligent, funny and has an easy going personality. He loves anything technical such as computers, radio controlled helicopters and home electronics. Eric gives his time generously to family and friends any time they need help. Eric works as a computer engineer.

We live in a three bedroom traditional home in a private community with a pool and playground. We have a patio and beautiful grounds. Many of the families in our neighborhood have young children. Summer picnics, bring a dish suppers and informal get togethers happen often. Our town has parks, beaches, marinas and lots of family activities.

We have many family traditions: holidays, Sunday dinners, family picnics, trick or treating, birthday parties, church services and more. Christmas is big for both of our families. We spend Christmas Eve with Eric's family for a Secret Santa gift exchange and a big feast. Christmas day we spend with Penny's family which includes lots of presents, board games, Christmas movies and a great family dinner.

At Easter, we hide about 100 eggs for the Great Easter Egg Hunt which rotates family houses each year. Every year we pick a Halloween theme and get dressed up. We trick or treat around our neighborhood and then we all meet back at our home for dinner. Thanksgiving is 18 people around the table including kids, aunts and uncles, grandparents and friends.

We can't wait to share all of our traditions with a child.

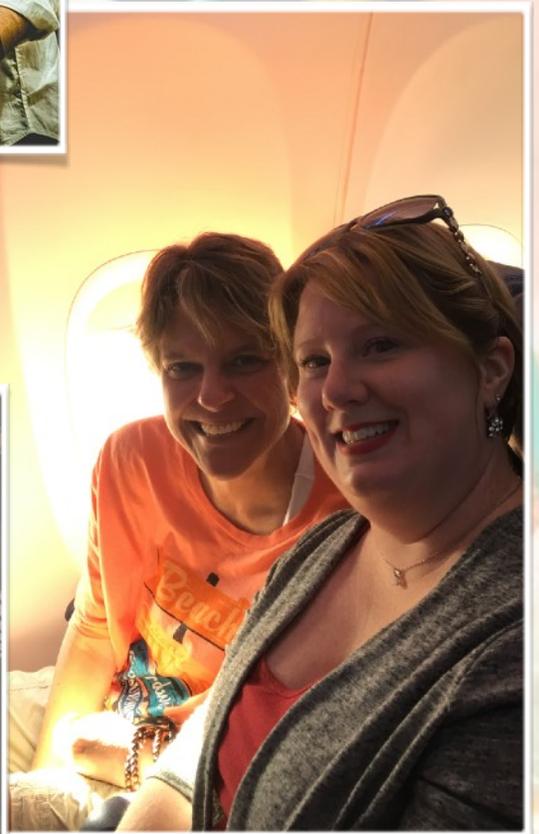

We take at least 2 vacations a year. Some vacations are with family at beaches or historic towns. We enjoy cruises of the Caribbean and visiting New Orleans with Eric's family.

We have many close friends. We go on conferences with Eric's college friends and host "game night" with our couple friends. Penny's girlfriends live close by and often drop in for dinner or go out to eat with us.

We spend a lot of time together. One of our favorite activities is going to the city. We both love music and theatre. We like walking around different neighborhoods and finding new restaurants to enjoy. We meet friends, have lunch in the park or go to a museum. Its always a great time for both of us.

We are so excited about having a child to raise. It would be an honor and privilege to adopt your baby and we would like nothing more than to share our hearts with a child. We realize the tremendous amount of love and courage involved in your decision. We want to assure you that your child's life will be filled with boundless love and endless affection from us, and our entire extended family.
