

DEAR BIRTH MOTHER

My name is Nichelle and I live in a suburb in metro Atlanta, GA. It is with heartfelt love, respect, and admiration that I write this letter to introduce myself to you.

Now before I tell you a little about me, I would like to sincerely thank you for your consideration during what I imagine is likely the most emotional and challenging time of your life. I admire your strength, your courage, as you press forward on this journey while making the most difficult, but very loving decision for your child.

It is my wish that you will find some comfort, peace, and reassurance in knowing that I am fully committed to you, your child, and this journey, as well as, knowing that without a doubt, I will love, cherish, and protect your child with every fiber of my being.

It seems like an eternity that I have been waiting to share my life, my love, and my heart with a child. I promise that your child will always know that my love and support is unconditional and limitless.

Nichelle Brown

Loving Georgia Woman Hoping to Adopt

"I know that there is a little soul out there waiting for me and I would be truly HONORED and PROFOUNDLY GRATEFUL to start this journey with you.

5

Things that make me
HAPPY

- 1 Children
- 2 My dogs: Blaze (father), Bella (mom), and Bordeaux (son)
- 3 Travelling
- 4 Volunteering to help others
- 5 My Friends and Family.

Although I have always known that I wanted to be a mother, I guess I never envisioned myself as nontraditional and being a single Mom. Admittedly I think I took for granted that I would get married and have a family of my own, whether naturally or adoptive, like several of my friends and family members. Initially my wish was for a husband and two children, but God had other plans and I am ok with that, as His plans led me here. Jeremiah 29:11 says, "I know the plans I have for you. Plans to prosper, not harm, but to give you hope and a future." I realize that I don't need to wait for a future husband to start my journey of becoming a Mom, I got this!! I am fully prepared to welcome a child into my life, my home, but most importantly into my heart. I have a wonderful job, financially and emotionally stabled, and an awesome village of friends and family who are just as excited as I am to be a part of this little one's life. I know that given an opportunity to raise a child, I will be able to handle challenges that life sometimes throws, and cover and surround this child with endless love, support, and security. I have so much to offer a child and I have no doubt, that I will be an incredible Mother!

I desire a child with a similar background as mine; biracial child, infant - 7 years, however I am open to considering older children. Preference is a daughter; however, I am open to boys as well. I have a valid, approved preplacement home study report.

I can be reached at nlb1908@gmail.com.